Veterans Day Means More to Many

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many proud American families, from the Thompsons of Minnesota to the Coyne and Zygmunts of Pennsylvania, have posted claims to the most-in-military service record by a single family.

The Veterans Administration, in advance of Veterans Day today, had wondered aloud of the Kiera family, originally from Minnesota, held some sort of record with its seven brothers who saw military service during World War II.

The VA did not specify if by record it meant number of family members who served in the military simultaneously or the family with the most World War II veterans.

More than a dozen families came forth with at least seven members in service during the past 25 years.

At least two — the Thompsons of Lawler, Minn., and the Vaughns of Crawfordville, Ind. — had 10 veterans of military service in the family.

Nine of the 12 Thompson brothers, sons of Helen Thompson who still lives in the Lawler area, served during World War II. A 10th entered military service right after the war. All survived. All but one still live in Minnesota.

Ten of the 11 Vaughn brothers served a total of nearly 50 years in the armed services — seven during World War II, one in Korea and two in the National Guard. The 11th brother tried to enlist several times but was turned down for health reasons.

A St. Louis widow, Marie Young, boasts nine sons with military records starting in World War II. Four served in the Navy, three in the Army and two in the Marines.

Seven Collins brothers from Booneville, Ind., saw combat during World War II. Two other brothers joined up after the war.

At least two cities — Springfield, Mass., and Scranton, Pa. — had more than one family with seven sons who served in World War II. They are the Anthony Potentials of Longmeadow, the Steven Schumers of Ludlow and the Michael Soplos of East Longmeadow — all in the Springfield area — and the John Coyne and Martin Zygmunts of Scranton.

As for sons of the Andrew Kieras of Pope County, Minn., four served in the Army, two in the Navy and one in the Air Corps. Each served at least three years, and six — all of whom are still living — served overseas.

Jenkins Released From Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Jenkins, former chief aide to President Johnson, has been released from George Washington University hospital, a hospital spokesman said Tuesday night.

Jenkins was admitted to the hospital Oct. 14 with what his physician, Dr. Charles Thompson, described as "insomnia, tensions and agitation."

It became known that day that Jenkins had been arrested twice on morals charges — in 1959 and on last Oct. 7. The President requested and received the resignation of his assistant of 25 years.

Thompson said Jenkins had undergone surgery while at the hospital for a calcium deposit in his right shoulder. The onetime White House assistant left the hospital Monday and was reported resting at his home. He is "doing very well," Thompson said.

State Democrats Apparently Not Scared of Rockefeller as Some Think They Should

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Democrats apparently are not as worried about Winthrop Rockefeller as one might think they should be from the results of the general election.

Who, the casual observer might ask, can the Democrats run in 1966 to challenge a man who polled almost 45 per cent of the vote against that champion ballot-collector, Orval E. Faubus?

"Anybody" is the answer the Democrats are giving privately.

One Democratic leader, a recent candidate for governor and a likely candidate in 1966, put it this simply: "I could run you against Rockefeller, and you would win."

This attitude is based on a belief that much of Rockefeller's strength was based on a built-in anti-Faubus vote. Rockefeller couldn't count on this support against a new man in 1966.

All the speculation is based on the assumption that Faubus won't run again. He has said he will not. His most enthusiastic supporters hope that, in his heart, he doesn't mean it.

But he most likely does. He wanted to quit in 1964 but friends prevailed on him to run again. He probably would have bowed out this year except for the challenge of running against a Rockefeller.

Just about everyone believes that Faubus would have pulled out of the governor's race if there had been anything else — a seat in the U.S. House or Senate — open to him.

So political observers will be watching in the next two years for hints that either Rep. J.W. Trimble or Sen. John L. McClellan plans retirement.

And, if Faubus really plans to quit, the underground battle for the Democratic Party mantle should bubble to the surface sporadically in the next biennium.

The candidate who can challenge Rockefeller won't be born overnight. He'll have to work at building a reputation and a following for the next 21 months.

Faubus has the only real following among the Democrats right now. Such former candidates as Jim Johnson, Dale Alford, Bruce Bennett and Sid McMath have hard cores of support but not enough at this point to build a statewide organization.

And there are pockets of support for Rep. Marion Crank of Little River County, Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney, Sen. Olen Hendrix of Prescott and others, even though they have not won a statewide race.

Rockefeller called his showing a victory for the two-party system. John Paul Hammettschmidt, the Republican state chairman, said the 1964 race had established the GOP as a meaningful political organization.

A Few Letters That Many Folks Would Like to Receive But Very Few Ever Get Them

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Letters people would like to get but rarely do:

"The diagnosis of our clinic is that you are suffering from generalized fatigue brought on by overwork. Therefore we are recommending to your employer, or that you be given a six-month leave of absence with pay so you can recuperate. It is imperative that you have no cares or responsibilities. We suggest a warm climate, such as Tahiti, and recommend that you leave your wife at home."

"At our last division reunion and I decided you never did get proper credit for repulsing that enemy charge on our food depot near the Rhine early in 1945. It was one of the most heroic individual actions in our outfit. Anybody who singlehandedly saved 21 tons of our precious peanut butter from being captured certainly deserves some kind of reward. So — belatedly — we are turning you in for a Silver Star."

"Remember back in 1936 when I bet you $50 even that Alf Landon would carry at least 20 states? Well, my great aunt passed away recently and left me a little money. So please find enclosed my check for $50. If you feel like putting a little dough down on the 1968 race, I'll bet you 2-1 that the Republicans will."

"Of course, every hospital makes mistakes, but I still can't see how our nurse informed you that you were the father of quadruplets, when all your wife had was a boy. There were, of course, no medical charges, naturally, for treating the concussion you received when the shock from receiving the nurse's mistaken news caused you to faint and strike your head on the hospital floor. Our attorney will call on you soon to discuss a reasonable settlement."

"It is our pleasure to inform you, Mrs. Smylie, that you were the winner among 46 million entrants in Krackly-Krunch's 25-word boxtop essay contest on 'Why I love to eat cheerful — sounding breakfast cereals.' The first prize — a Rolls-Royce filled with silver dollars — is now ready. Do you wish to pick it up, or shall we drive it to your home?"

"Remember me, your old pal, Joe Hardtop, the guy who beat you for the job as varsity half-back our senior year in high school? Well, I'm selling Christmas cards for a living now, and I wondered if, for old times' sake, you'd —"

"It was foolish of you to let my baby play with your $750 diamond ring, Madge. You might have known he'd swallow it. I don't mind telling you I'd have sued you if it had been necessary to operate. But, anyway, here's your ring back, good as new, and I suggest we both just forget the whole incident."

"I was just shuffling through some of the White House mail and came across your teen-age son's application to work as a cowboy on our ranch next summer. Nothing would delect me more. Lady Bird and I sure would take it as a favor if you and the missus would join us for a couple of restful weeks. too. If you like real Texas Chili, I can promise you that —"

An official said Tuesday it was Ward's idea to add something different to the usual ceremonies.

U.S. Probing Overplanting of State Cotton

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Agriculture Department says it will continue its probe into overplanting of cotton allotments in Eastern Arkansas, which it revealed Tuesday were in some instances, "quite substantial."

A spokesman said there have been reports that in some instances the overplantings exceeded 500 acres. This could mean a fine of up to $50,000.

"The further we go with the investigation, the more we find," the spokesman said. "So we will go into other counties for further checks."

"We recognize that it is not a good situation, but we have it on our hands and we must clean it up. It would not be fair to those who comply to do otherwise," he said.

The investigations are being conducted by the State and County Operations Division of the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Federal offices were closed today and ASC officials could not be reached for comment on how widespread the investigation is in Arkansas.

Tuesday, A. C. Mowery Jr., head of the ASCS in Arkansas, confirmed that the investigations were under way, but said his office would not have a complete report on the matter until the investigators complete their work.

At Washington Tuesday, a spokesman for the ASCS said that after a check in St. Francis County revealed substantial overplanting in instances a re-check was called for.

"All I can say now is that we are proceeding with the investigation," he added. (Continued on Page Three)

Austin to Get Another TV Station

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Capital Cable Co. announced Tuesday it is taking over customers of its former competitor, TV cable of Austin, another community antenna firm.

Capital Cable, a subsidiary of Midwest Video in Little Rock, Ark., bought out TV Cable last July but the move to transfer customers did not begin until several days ago.

Texas Broadcasting Co., formerly the LBJ Co., operators of Austin's only commercial TV station, KTBC-TV, and owned by family interests of President Johnson, holds an option to acquire up to 50 per cent of Capital Cable's stock. The option has not been exercised to date.

TV Cable of Austin used a microwave relay system which brought it under jurisdiction of the Federal Communications Commission. Several times it sought unsuccessfully to get FCC permission to transmit national television network programs at the same time telecast. Under a FCC ruling TV Cable had to delay for 15 days any program that KTBC-TV wanted to carry.

Capital Cable, which uses a coaxial cable to serve customers, does not fall under FCC jurisdiction.

In a form letter to former subscribers of TV Cable, Capital Cable announced that programs would be viewed "exactly as telecast," without "delays or blackouts."

When sale negotiations were revealed last June, officials of TV Cable said it had 3,000 customers, each paying $4.95 monthly.

Cross Complaint in School Case

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Arthur H. Miller, a Negro elected to the Dollarway School Board Sept. 29, filed a cross complaint here Tuesday against the white incumbent he unseated.

Miller alleged that 93 illegal or invalid ballots had been cast for Rob Bryant, who lost by 60 votes.

Bryant filed suit last month alleging that 108 persons cast invalid or illegal ballots in the voting box at Townsend Park School.

No date has been set for a hearing.

Secrecy Shrouds New House Building Which Will Cost $95 Million When Completed

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clifford P. Case said today the new House Office Building now nearing completion is a monument to the peculiar way Congress handles its internal affairs.

The New Jersey Republican said the secrecy which has shrouded facts and figures for construction of the building has thwarted even members of Congress from finding out more about the project.

He again called for fuller public disclosure of governmental activities and expressed hope the new Congress will adopt legislation to require members to disclose their financial interests.

"The principle of public disclosure is central to the effective workings of our political system," Case said in a letter to constituents.

Case said the new House Office Building — named in honor of the late Speaker Sam Rayburn — began in 1955 with a $2-million appropriation and is expected to cost more than $95 million when the final figures are in.

The General Accounting Office, he said, began a review of the project only after a reluctant House leadership was unable to prevent a roll-call vote on the question.

Case noted that this is a new role for the accounting office which, as a creation of Congress, acts as financial watchdog over the executive branch.

In its review, Case said, is recognition of the legitimate demand for fuller public information about congressional activities.

Case and other senators introduced public-disclosure bills in the past several Congresses but none of them passed.

Case said, however, that they were discussed seriously in the Senate this year for the first time. "I hope that in the next Congress legislation can at last be enacted," he added.

Fire Damages Camden Plant

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP) — Fire caused an estimated $200,000 damage to the paint shop area of Holiday Manufacturing Co. here Tuesday.

Plant manager L. R. Kaunitz made the estimate. Asst. Fire Chief Joe Beaver said the fire started in the paint shop, was fanned by wind, but confined to the same area.

The fire broke out just before noon and was brought under control in about an hour. Bundles of curtain material and wood paneling smoldered for some time after the fire was controlled.

Redistricting May Call for Special Session

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Tuesday that redistricting of legislative and congressional districts should be handled in a special legislative session.

Faubus gave no indication at a news conference when such a session might be held, but he ruled out the 1965 regular session as the one to get Arkansas in line with the U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" ruling on apportionment.

The high court held last summer that legislatures composed of two houses, such as Arkansas' House and Senate, must be apportioned on the basis of population as nearly as possible.

Faubus said the legislature already has a lot of work to do in the 60-day regular session that begins next January. He said a lot of study would be needed before reapportionment could be accomplished.

The governor said developments should determine when a special session should be called on apportionment.

The Judiciary Committee of the Arkansas Legislative Council delayed action Tuesday on reports about the apportionment (Continued on Page Two)

Judges and Lawyers Hold Area Meet

Lawyers and Judges from Southwest Arkansas met in Hope, at the Diamond Cafeteria for a Dinner Meeting on Tuesday night. They heard Attorney Robert R. Wright, Jr., of Lewisville, speak on Continuing Legal Education in Arkansas.

Mr. Wright is Director of Continuing Legal Education at the University of Arkansas, School of Law, Fayetteville, Arkansas.

Elected as officers of the Association for the year 1965 were: President, W.F. Denman, Jr., of Prescott; Vice-President, C. R. Huie, of Arkadelphia; and Secretary - Treasurer, Talbot Feild, Jr., of Hope.

The Association, by Resolution endorsed the Proposal of the Arkansas Bar Association urging the creation of an Evening Law School Division of the University of Arkansas at Little Rock. All members of the General Assembly residing in Southwest Arkansas are to be advised of the Resolution.

The next meeting is to be held in Prescott on February 2, 1965.

Besides taxes, the agenda for the Johnson-Dillon conference involved efforts to stem the outflow of gold and a broad range of domestic and international economic and financial concerns.

Hodges was summoned to discuss the continuing drive to expand exports, the business climate, the federal highway program and the work of the Community Relations Service.

McNamara and Rusk, after their sessions with Johnson, held separate news conferences at an Austin air base and said flatly they will retain their Cabinet posts if, as expected, Johnson wants them.

Johnson Calls in Dillon to Talk Tax Cut

By FRANK CORMIER

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson summoned Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon to his hill-country ranch today to make plans for a 1965 excise tax cut.

Johnson, winding up a first round of post-election conferences with top Cabinet advisers, also invited Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges to visit the ranch during the afternoon to talk about voluntary compliance with the new Civil Rights Act and the business outlook at home and abroad.

Both Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara conferred with the President Tuesday at the 400-acre LBJ Ranch.

Johnson wanted to talk to Dillon about tax legislation to be submitted to Congress in January. During the election campaign, the President said, he would recommend a major cut in excise taxes. He hinted at broader tax cuts in the longer-range future.

The President's efforts to reduce the budget deficit, now totaling about $5.7 billion a year, will be affected by the size and timing of the planned cut in excise levies.

Excise taxes net close to $15 billion a year — an amount large enough to discourage any proposal to eliminate them entirely.

Johnson is expected to call principal for the scrapping of excises on purchases such as cosmetics and handbags. These amount to about $500 million a year.

The President, who will be concentrating for the next several weeks on budget, planning and new legislative proposals, got some encouraging budgetary news.

McNamara handed him preliminary figures indicating that defense spending next year can again be kept below $50 billion. This would increase prospects of a total budget below $100 billion — a psychological barrier Johnson wants to avoid.

Defense spending in the current year is now estimated at $49.8 billion of a $97.2 billion budget.

"DEAR ABBY"

SHE'S NOT THE FIRST!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: How can you tell Dear Abby: How can you tell men lie nowadays you can't tell the married ones from the single ones. You sure can't believe what they tell you. I was a widow for six years when my daughter introduced me to a very nice man whom she knew at the place where she worked. We were attracted to each other from the start. He said his wife was dead. We went together for almost a year. This man asked me to marry him after our second date. I said I thought we should get to know each other better before discussing marriage. I don't know what he'd have done if I had said yes because his wife was very much alive. (I just found out about her last week.) I called her on the phone and she told me plenty. She wasn't mad. She said I wasn't the first and I wouldn't be the last. Also, that she didn't love him but was only keeping him around for his pay check. So, dear Abby, I'm asking you: How can a woman be sure?

SHOCKED

Dear Shocked: Your most reliable information on the marital status of a suitor would come either from the bureau of vital statistics or from others who have known the man longer than you have. Some men are polished liars, so if a man never takes you to his old haunts, and never introduces you to his friends, beware.

Dear Abby: I am 23, single and have a very good job. I've been deferred from Army service because of my job, but my deferment is up in January. I recently met the most wonderful girl. I see her only on weekends, but she is constantly in my thoughts. I've asked her to marry me, but now I'm not sure if I'm really in love, or just looking for someone to marry to stay out of the Army. I find it hard to keep my mind on my work, and this problem is keeping me up nights. Can you give me some advice?

IN DOUBT

Dear In: When a man is in love, he knows it, and he doesn't question his motives for considering marriage. Don't marry this "wonderful" girl, while you are still wondering whether it's "love" or the deferment that is drawing you to the altar. Army duty is temporary. Marriage is a lifetime hitch!

Dear Abby: About the "retarded" poodle who paddles: The owners sound retarded to me. In the first place, puppies should not be taken from their mothers until they are ten weeks' old. If a dog is taken for a walk the first thing in the morning and rewarded with a kind word or a biscuit for having accomplished the purpose of the walk, then turned out a time or two during the day, and walked again in the evening, the carpets and furniture would be safe.

I worked in a resort motel, and half the people with dogs who checked in for the weekend, would get stoned in the evening, then sleep off their hangovers until noon. By that time the poor dog would have answered Nature's call on the carpet. But why blame the dog if the owner has no sense? Yours for a better deal for dogs.

MRS. R.M.H.

Dear Abby: Tell Julius' wife not to complain because her husband can't dance. If he's the same Julius I knew back in Indiana about 15 years ago, he couldn't dance, then, either. But he had a lot of other qualities that were much better than dancing. I wish I had waited for

Jet Bomber Crash Leaves Seven Dead

WOLF POINT, Mont. (AP) — An eight-jet Air Force B52 bomber carrying seven persons crashed and burned about 25 miles south of this northeastern Montana city late Tuesday night, the Air Force said today.

Two bodies were recovered. A Defense Department spokesman in Washington said the fate of the other five persons was not known.

He said the plane was from Larson Air Force Base at Moses Lake, Wash.

A rescue unit was sent to the crash from Glasgow Air Force Base, 79 miles west of Wolf Point.

Montana highway patrolmen and Roosevelt County officers also went to the scene, 60 miles west of the North Dakota border.

The cause of the crash was not known. A farmer, Jake Schleppe, was the first to report it. It occurred at about 11 p.m. proved until it is seen how well the Rockefeller-Republican organization holds together through two long years. It's still rather tightly knit now, partly because of residual momentum from the campaign, partly because of the bonding influence of commiseration in defeat.

Rockefeller has said flatly that he will run again. His supporters won't talk about anything else. Even the Democrats admit that he most likely will be a candidate again.

And he'll be an older, wiser candidate. He learned a lot quickly against the rough and tumble Faubus tactics. He is not likely to repeat his mistakes and he'll have a prestige advantage over any opponent.

Some years ago Faubus laid down the formula for his own defeat. He said a candidate shouldn't make the mistake of attacking his administration but should, instead, praise what had been done and point out some areas in which he could do better.

Rockefeller didn't follow this formula. Neither did Dale Alford and Sid McMeth in 1962. Bruce Bennett and Joe Hardin in 1960 or Lee Ward in 1958.

Each of these candidates elected to attack the Faubus record and, on occasion, Faubus himself.

So the last four meaningful elections in Arkansas have seen Faubus defending his record and the opposition crying, "Throw the rascal out."

Could Faubus win again? Probably. His 55 per cent showing against Rockefeller indicates he recovered strength from 1962 when he got less than 52 per cent of the vote against five Democratic primary opponents. He demonstrated in this election, too, that he is still able to get his supporters to the polls.

But he has said he won't run, and political thinking in Arkansas must be directed toward the possibilities that exist with Faubus out of the picture.

In this light, the Democratic primary in 1966 should be one of the most vigorously contested elections in Arkansas history. A field of a dozen candidates would not be surprising.

The big question is whether the Democrats can fight it out in the primary and then unite in a solid front against Rockefeller. They didn't in 1954, when Faubus upset Gov. Francis Cherry in the primary and, as a result, Republican Pratt Remmel made the best showing a GOP candidate made until Rockefeller came along.

Things to watch for:

More talk by Faubus about retirement. (If he doesn't mean it, he will shut up about it.)

Maneuvering by Democratic legislators for publicity during the 1965 general assembly.

Stepped up speechmaking activity around the state by any potential candidate.

Rockefeller's moves when he attempts to crank up his organization again after the first of the year.

From one or more of these indicators will come the first clues as to who is competing and who is likely to succeed in the political sweepstakes of 1966.

Ressler Is Lineman of The Week

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — A football writer once compared him to a panzer division clearing the way for his fellow troops.

Opposing coaches sit in awe when they see him play.

And Rip Engle says he's the greatest college lineman in America.

That's the story of Penn State's Glenn Ressler, selected as the Associated Press Lineman-of-the-Week for his great performance in the Lions' stunning 27-0 upset over Ohio State last Saturday.

"Some of the things Ressler does, you have to see to believe," said Engle, in his 15th year of coaching at Penn State. "He's great on offense and he's great on defense."

Nicknamed Zeke by his teammates, the 6-foot-2, 230-pound middle guard is the quiet man of the Nittany Lions — one who would rather play than talk.

"This is a tremendous honor," he said when informed of his selection as Lineman-of-the-Week. "Nothing like this has happened to me before, but don't forget, I had plenty of help out there."

Ressler, a senior majoring in agricultural education, has been the sparkplug in Penn State's comeback after a dismal start of three straight losses. Faced with their first losing season since 1938, the Lions battled back to win four of their next five. Ressler's ply made the difference.

Against Ohio State, he caused one fumble, recovered another, and spent about as much time in the Buckeye backfield as the Buckeyes themselves.

decision. The council staff report took note of a U.S. District Court suit seeking to compel the state Board of Apportionment to reapportion the Arkansas Legislature.

No hearing date has been set in the suit.

The Supreme Court also ruled that congressional districts must be adjusted so that each district's population is closely equal to that of any other such district in a state.

On other matters: Faubus said he had already considered calling a meeting of the state Election Commission, of which he is chairman, to implement Amendment 54. It was approved in the general election and became Amendment 51 to the state constitution. It goes into effect Jan. 1.

Faubus said county clerks, who will get the job of registering voters the amendment, had been asked for their suggestions about registration forms.

The governor hinted that his proposed rural road program would require a bond issue or a new tax. He said he is thinking about expanding the program to include primary roads.

Increased maintenance costs are soaking up increased revenues for highways, Faubus said.

The governor declined to say whether he planned a bond issue or a tax to support his road program.

Wake Forest Player Is Back of Week

By MURRAY CHASS Associated Press Sports Writer

Brian Piccolo has stepped from a part in "Come Back, Little Sheba" into one of the surprise roles of the college football season.

No one was more surprised than Duke last Saturday when Piccolo led Wake Forest to a 20-7 upset victory that seriously hindered the Blue Devils' chances for the Atlantic Coast Conference championship.

Piccolo's performance — he scored all of the points — has earned for him today selection as Back of the Week by the Associated Press.

Piccolo, who rather would talk about Eugene O'Neill than Knute Rockne, was the workhorse of the Wake Forest triumph, running 36 times for 115 yards, catching three passes for 46 yards on a play the Deacons tried for the first time and scoring three touchdowns and kicking two extra points.

It was the first time Wake Forest defeated Duke since 1951. The Deacons suffered 12 losses in between.

The senior fullback, retaining his national rushing leadership with 837 yards, scored on runs of one and 12 yards and on an 11-yard pass. He carried the ball 10 times on the 13-play drive for the last touchdown.

When he graduates, he may have trouble deciding which career to follow full-time. He undoubtedly has aroused the interest of some professional teams, but there's also the stage.

"I really like the theater," he said. "I'm a speech major, and if the right opportunity for a theater career came along I'd probably take it. I love crowds."

When he's not battering an opposing team's line, Piccolo intently pursues his other love. This past summer he played Turk (an athlete, incidentally) in "Come Back, Little Sheba."

Special Election in Clark County

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Tuesday that a special election would be held Dec. 22 in Clark County to elect a circuit clerk to succeed the late James M. Modlin.

Modlin, 58, of Arkadelphia, was killed Oct. 26 in a highway accident. He was the Democratic nominee for election to a third term and was unopposed.

Faubus set Dec. 1 as the deadline for qualifying for the position.

gation," said the spokesman. "We have men in the field. The inquiry is not completed and we have no idea at this time how long it will take."

The current penalty for overplanting is slightly more than 20 cents a pound on the actual or normal yield on the acres which a farmer might have planted in excess of his allotment. This could be in excess of $100 an acre.

John Chipman, manager of the St. Francis ASCS, said Tuesday there would not be numerous instances of overplanting, but those discovered ran from 10 to 15 per cent above allotments.

The cotton farming area of the Arkansas delta includes plantings mostly in the 200 to 1,000-acre range.

The USDA spokesman said apparently there has been "lax administration" of the cotton act in St. Francis County, since compliance officers are supposed to measure planted acreages to make certain that farmers plant within their allotments.

He said one officer in St. Francis County has been suspended pending a hearing.

It is essential for the department to crack down on offenders, he said, because, "it is not fair for those who do plant within their allotments to let others get away with overplants."

Arkansas has, etc., last graf, LR10.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Agriculture Department confirmed Tuesday that it had uncovered instances of cotton crop allotment overplanting in St. Francis County.

The department said a first investigation revealed overplantings in Eastern Arkansas which "were quite substantial."

John Chipman, manager of the St. Francis County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, said that in one instance a fine up to $50,000 might be assessed on overplanting of some 500 acres.

Chipman said there would not be numerous overplantings in the county, but that those discovered ran from 10 to 15 per cent above their allotment.

The cotton farming area of the Arkansas Delta in St. Francis County includes plantings mostly in the 200 to 1,000-acre range.

Billy Reynolds, manager of the Crittenden County ASC, said there apparently will be no assessments or penalties in his area.

At the present time, the penalty for overplanting amounts to slightly more than 20 cents a pound on the actual or normal yield on the acres planted in excess of the allotment. This would put the penalty at more than $100 an acre.

The department said state and county operations of the USDA are making the investigation.

A. C. Mowery Jr., head of the ASCS in Arkansas, said his office would have no information until the county groups complete their investigation.

Chipman said it may require three more weeks to complete the investigation in his county.

Arkansas has a total allotment of 1,230,000 acres this year, the same as in 1963. The department has forecast a 1964 crop of 1,590,000 bales, which is 84,000 more than last year.

Texas Firms Get River Contracts

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Kansas and Texas firms combined Tuesday for an apparent low bid of $18,757,741 on a contract for the construction of Lock and Dam No. 4 on the Arkansas River.

Sam Ore Construction Co. of McPherson, Kan., and Elmer C. Gardner Inc. of Houston, Tex., submitted the bid.

The dam will be about 10 miles northeast of Pine Bluff. An access road to the site has been built and an office building is under construction.

The concrete spillway section will be 1,190 feet long and 58 feet high. Seventeen gates will regulate the flow of the river as part of the navigation program.

Dravo Corp. of Pittsburgh, Pa., had the second lowest bid of $18,762,760.

Bids will be opened Dec. 15 on Lock and Dam No. 6.

Caveness Tops SW List for All American

DALLAS (AP)—Ronnie Caveness, Arkansas' mighty line-backer heads the list of Southwest Conference players who have a chance of making The Associated Press All-America team, the AP's Southwest regional board reported Tuesday.

The 215-pound Caveness, a senior, is from Houston, Tex. He leads the Razorback defense, which presently is the best in the SWC in total yards given up.

The board of sportswriters and broadcasters unanimously selected Caveness as one of the SWC's top All-America prospects.

There were three other unanimous choices: Tommy Nobis, Texas' great line-backer and guard; Lawrence Elkins, Baylor's star pass receiver; and Donny Anderson, Texas Tech's Mr. Versatility.

Other votes went for Ken Hatfield, the Arkansas punt returner and kickoff return specialist; Loyd Phillips, Arkansas' sophomore tackle; Jerry Lamb, Arkansas' senior end; Jim Williams, another Arkansas tackle; Fred Marshall, the Arkansas quarterback; Ernie Koy, the Texas halfback; Jim Fauver, Texas Christian halfback; Malcolm Walker, Rice's line-backer; and Harold Phillip, Texas' fullback.

Significant Toss for DeBusschere

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

To Dave DeBusschere, a third-year player in the National Basketball Association, the buzzer ending Tuesday night's Detroit Pistons-Baltimore Bullets game had a very special ring.

It was DeBusschere's first game as coach of the Pistons, who ended a six-game losing streak with a 119-117 victory over the Bullets in the opener of an NBA doubleheader at Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

San Francisco topped Philadelphia 110-99 in the second game.

In the only other game played, the Lakers staged off a late New York rally and downed the Knicks 108-101 in Los Angeles.

DeBusschere, starting forward on the Pistons, helped his own cause with 26 points.

DeBusschere replaced Charley Wolf as Pistons coach Tuesday.

Tech Back Is Leading in Rushing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas Tech halfback Robert Marley rushed for 176 yards last week to up his season's total to 692 yards and an almost insurmountable lead in that department among Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference players.

Statistics released today showed Marley's nearest competitor, Troy Tison of Henderson, has 474 yards on 126 carries for a 3.8-yard average. Marley has 167 carries for a 4.1-yard average.

Johnny Tune, Southern State's quarterback, leads in total offense with 894 yards. He has 679 yards passing and a minus 75 yards rushing, which also makes him the passing leader.

Homer Atkins of Ozark's leads in pass receiving with 26 for 211 yards. Tommy Larence of Arkansas A&M has the punt return lead with 14 for 259 yards, an 18.5-yard average.

Ronnie Higgins of A&M is the leading scorer with 50 points on four touchdowns, 17 extra points and three field goals.

Ronnie Kerr of Henderson leads in punting with 34 kicks for a 39.4-yard average and Jim Turner of State Teachers leads in kickoff returns with six for 216 yards, or 36 yards per try.

Braves Going to Atlanta in 1966

ATLANTA (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves have signed a 25-year contract to begin playing baseball in Atlanta's $18-million stadium in 1966.

The contract was signed late Tuesday in Chicago by Arthur Montgomery, chairman of the Atlanta-Fulton County Recreation Authority, and Braves officials. Montgomery called Mayor Ivan Allen of Atlanta while the contract was being signed.

"Tell them they just made the best trade they've ever made," Allen told Montgomery.

The contract signing took place two days before it was scheduled. Atlanta and Braves officials apparently were apprehensive that Milwaukee County officials might further delay the plans to move to Atlanta by securing another court order restraining the Braves from signing a contract to play in Atlanta in 1965.

Meanwhile, in Milwaukee, the county board voted unanimously to send a delegation to Washington, D.C., to meet with officials about the prospects of starting an antitrust action against the Braves and other National League clubs.

Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., who urged the county to institute such a suit, said the county should sue for triple damages and an injunction because the league voted to permit the Braves to shift to Atlanta in 1966 but ordered them to stay in Milwaukee for the 1965 season.

Mills addressed the fourth annual Scholastic Recognition Banquet honoring 176 members of the National Honor Society from five Little Rock high schools.

"In the long range, the battle for survival of freedom rests with the intensity of the efforts which are made now to develop to the fullest the abilities and the capabilities of our young people," Mills said.

Broyles Thinks Porks Realize Stakes Sat.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Coach Frank Broyles continuing Tuesday expressing confidence that the Arkansas Razorbacks will be neither complacent nor unenthused against Southern Methodist University here Saturday.

"I think they know what is at stake," Broyles said of the Razorbacks.

The third-ranked, unbeaten Razorbacks can clinch at least a tie for the Southwest Conference championship and can nail down a berth for the Cotton Bowl game by beating the Mustangs.

There is also a good chance that Arkansas can rise higher than third in national rankings, since No. Notre Dame takes on Michigan State, which has beaten the Irish in 11 of their last 12 meetings. Second-ranked Alabama meets the No. 10 team, Georgia Tech.

The Razorbacks worked for 75 minutes Tuesday at recognizing SMU plays. SMU has a 1-6 season record and is 0-4 in conference play.

Clay Leaves Everything to His Maker

By CHARLES MCGILLICUDDY Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—Cassius Clay hopes God will be in his corner when he takes on Sonny Liston next Monday night in defense of his world heavyweight boxing championship.

"If I win, it'll be the will of God," Clay said Tuesday in a display of the deeper man behind the clown. "If I lose, he will have a punch. 'If I lose,' he added, 'it'll be God's will.'"

Clay, who has adopted the Muslim religion as well as the religious name Muhammad Ali, said his new religion has given him a billion followers around the world, followers who never heard of boxing until he became champion.

The champion said he will visit the Middle East after the fight, especially Turkey, "where 40,000 people are waiting to see me."

He also said his Muslim religion is the reason some people in the United States make him the "bad guy" for this fight. "But I don't care, just so long as they buy the tickets."

While the challenger, Liston, worked out in historic Plymouth, many miles from the scene of the fight at Boston Garden, Clay was telling what he proposes to do to keep his psychological war in full swing.

"I plan to talk to the Beir (as he refers to Liston) when we get in the ring," he said. "I talked to him last time, too. I told him, 'C'mon, Bear, you're losing your crown. Watch this one. Bear—pow pow—C'mon, Bear, you gotta fight to win.'"

Gun Bow, leading contender to replace Kelson as Horse of the Year, has taken on the champion four times this year. They have split even.

Packers Gaining More on Ground

NEW YORK (AP)—The Green Bay Packers, one of three National Football League teams which have gained more yardage on the ground than in the air, have taken over the league lead in rushing.

A 145-yard performance by Jim Taylor last Sunday helped swell the Packers total to 1,496 yards. Baltimore is second with 1,405 and Pittsburgh the previous leader, dropped into third with 1,405.

The Packers, Steelers and Cleveland Browns, who are fourth with 1,391 on the ground, all have gained more yardage rushing than passing.

Baltimore remained the total offense leader, adding 1,665 passing to its rushing yardage for 3,154 yards gained. St. Louis is second with 2,936 and Green Bay third at 2,869.

Chicago is No. 1 in passing with 1,912 yards, followed by San Francisco at 1,889 and St. Louis at 1,774.

Kelso Tries to Break Jinx Today

By ORLO ROBERTSON Associated Press Sports Writer

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Kelso, four times America's Horse of the Year, world's leading money-winning thoroughbred and hailed as the greatest gelding since the renowned Exterminator, tries today to break a jinx that has plagued him for three runnings of the $150,000 Washington D.C., International at Laurel.

The 7-year-old son of Your Horse-Maid of Flight, winner of 26 stakes in compiling a bank account of $1,803,362, ran second in each of his three appearances in this 1 1/2-mile grass course event which in 13 years has gained worldwide attention.

Kelly, as the popular horse is known affectionately around Mrs. Richard C. duPont's Bohemia Stable, was beaten three-quarters of a length by America's T.V. Lark in 1961, 1 1/2 lengths by the French representative Match II in 1962 and by one-half length by the United States' Mongo last year.

Each time, in the opinion of trainer Carl Hanford, Kelly had an excuse. He was kicked by another horse in the early going in 1961, used up by turning back the challenges of first Beau Purple and then Carry Back in 1962 and last year just didn't have an answer to the 23 4-5-second last quarter thrown at him by Mongo.

"But we are ready for this one," said Hanford.

Kelson is right down to his best racing weight of 970 pounds, there isn't an excess pound on his perfectly built frame. He stands 16.1 hands or 65 inches.

But Kelson faces far from an easy track in opposing Gun Bow, the 4-year-old American speedster carrying the silks of the Gedney Farm of Mrs. John T. Stanley and Harry Albert, and six hand-picked foreign invaders.

Picks Porkers, Notre Dame to Defeat Foes

By HAROLD CLAASSEN Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—This is Veterans' Day, a day college football coaches enjoy because there is nothing that disturbs them more than relying on sophomores in a crucial grid-iron battle.

From the number of upsets that prevailed last weekend there must have been numerous sophomores in action. How else can you explain such losses as Ohio State and Georgia Tech?

Those two results were among the 15 wrong guesses made a week ago, dropping the seasonal percentage to .689.

Relying strictly on the veterans, here are this week's selections:

Notre Dame over Michigan State: This is the year that Notre Dame breaks the jinx that Duffy Daugherty teams have held over the Irish the past eight years. The Huerfano-Snow passing combination proves too much for the Big Ten team.

Alabama over Georgia Tech: Alabama already has clinched the Southeastern Conference championship and is a virtual shoo-in for the Sugar Bowl bid.

Ohio State over Northwestern: The Big Ten Wildcats will have to pay the penalty for State last Saturday. The Buck what Penn State did to Ohio eye attack, held to five first downs in the humiliating defeat, has been overhauled.

Arkansas over Southern Methodist: The Razorbacks need a victory here to get the Cotton Bowl bid.

Oregon State over Stanford: Steve Clark's kicking gives the Beavers a slight edge.

Michigan over Iowa: That Iowa aerial circus isn't quite enough. Stan Kemp's punting and Bob Timberlake's play calling to decide.

Texas over Texas Christian: The Longhorns' offense is back in gear.

Nebraska over Oklahoma State: The nation's longest winning streak among major colleges is stretched to 16 without much trouble.

Louisiana State over Mississippi State: Pat Screen's pinpoint passing too much for Mississippi State.

Sikes Hottest Rookie in the Pro Ranks

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP)—R. H. (Dick) Sikes, the Ozark Mountain boy who learned his golf as a barefoot caddy, is home again, $23,300 richer, but the poorer for his Arkansas twang.

His self-effacing modesty has been displaced by quiet confidence, except where his short irons are concerned.

The 24-year-old former University of Arkansas golf star hit the PGA trail last June and earned $23,300 in four months, putting him in 23rd place among money winners on the tour this year.

"I'm doing a little better than I thought I would be," Sikes said in an interview Tuesday with The Associated Press. "I was fortunate enough to win a tournament and that exempts me from qualifying in all tournaments except the Masters and the U.S. Open."

Sikes won the Sahara Invitational at Las Vegas and says it "did an awful lot for my confidence. As a result I think my game improved a lot."

Sikes has lost his Arkansas accent. He bears little resemblance to the youngster who drew attention by carrying his clubs when he won the first of his two National Public Links titles.

He says his short game "is not too good."

"I haven't practiced it," Sikes said. "My wedge shots from 30 yards in are long one time and short the next."

He plans to practice on the Springdale Country Club course, where he learned the game, and in Razorback Field House at Fayetteville.

Sikes also finished second in the Mountain View Open at Corona, Calif., fifth in the American Golf Classic at Akron, ninth in the Cleveland Open, 16th in the World Carling at Detroit and 10th in the Sunset Camelia at Sacramento.

He plans to enter the Cajun Classic at Lafayette, La., next week in hopes of finishing high enough to qualify for the Masters in the pro point system. Only two golfers from the fall tour can qualify and Sikes now is year-old filly Belle Sicambre from France. Russia's Anilin, from France. Russia's Anilin, Ireland's Biscayne, Venezuela's Primordial and Japan's Ryu Ford round out the field.

First money will be worth $90,000, with $25,000 for second.

Guernsey-Blevins in Close Games

Blevins took two very close games from Guernsey last night at Blevins.

In the first contest the Guernsey Junior Girls easily won by a 54 to 21 score. The Senior girls game was a dandy with Blevins edging out 48 to 47. Bonds of Blevins and Black of Guernsey each had 25 points.

In the Senior boys game Blevins edged Guernsey 68 to 61. Sweat made 20 for Blevins and Faulkner made 20 for Guernsey. Friday night Blevins enters Spring Hill.

Tulsa Team Is Running Up Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Tulsa and 117 other major college football teams go after two records Saturday—one through the air, the other through the uprights.

Tulsa, which already has a prolific record-breaker in quarterback Jerry Rhyme, needs only 219 yards passing against North Texas State Saturday to surpass its own season record of 2,448 yards set last year, according to National Collegiate Athletic Bureau figures released today.

At the same time, Tulsa may join with the other 117 major teams in trying to establish a new high for number of field goals kicked in one season. The schools need 27 to equal last third among the unqualified.

Art Modell, owner of the Cleveland Browns, is Sikes' sponsor, but Sikes says that in "two of three months, I'll probably have a club to play out of."

He registers out of Cleveland and "tell them I'm from Springdale," Sikes said.

How does he like the tour?

"I'm enjoying it," Sikes said. "But you never know how the ball's going to roll. You just can't tell about this game."

Probation in Mail Fraud Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—U.S. District Judge J. Smith Henley placed two men on three years' probation Monday for using mail fraud in selling resort subdivision lots on Greers Ferry Reservoir.

Henley said he had intended to give short prison terms to Henry Thomas Settles, 51, of Jacksonville and Julian E. Ebert, 63, of Little Rock, but decided that would be punishing the lot owners.

He said there were still improvements needed in the subdivision, and as a condition of probation he told Settles and Ebert to make the promised improvements.

Henley found the two guilty Jan. 24. He said they had devised a scheme to sell lots without intending to make the promised improvements and had carried out the scheme by sending out letters to attract customers.

The subdivision is South Shore Park.

Things New in Economic Class Today

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — So, what's new in home economics classes these days?

Well, there's Archimedes' principle, Ohm's law and photometric analysis, among other things — or at least there should be, says Prof. Florence Ehrenkranz of the University of Minnesota's School of Home Economics.

Prof. Ehrenkranz' concept of home economics is a far cry from the traditional preparation in nutrition, baby-care and family budgets.

She believes home ec students "need a background in physics — not a lip-service appreciation of the scientific method, but an understanding of the principles of physical science."

"This, she says, requires foundation work in college algebra and calculus, and 'a course in statistics would be advantageous, although not essential.'"

In a paper prepared for the annual meeting of the Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, Prof. Ehrenkranz made these further points:

— A study of mechanics "introduces concepts of force, energy, power, and mechanical efficiency, all having significance for various household appliances and relating to physical work in the home."

— Understanding of fundamental particles, atomic structure and nuclear reactions is essential in such areas as household equipment, nutrition and food preservation.

— Some knowledge of the physics of sound is essential for the home economist interested in the potential use of ultrasonics to clean clothes and dishes.

— The principles of heat and thermometry relates to food refrigeration, cooking, and the treatment of textiles.

— Need for some understanding of electricity is obvious because of many electrical appliances found in the home.

Prof. Ehrenkranz didn't say so, but with this background a home economist might also make a good stab at building a space rocket in her spare time.

Just Another Blue Monday

CHICAGO (AP)—It was blue Monday again for the manager of a North Side loan company office when a familiar robber took more than $200 from the till Monday.

The robber has looted the loan company on three Mondays in the last three months.

James Sullivan, the manager, said the bandit was a bit miffed last month when one employee chased him after the robbery.

Expressing disapproval of such action, the robber told employees on his third trip, "This time, don't get smart. Stay here."

Well trained by now, everyone stayed put.

Humphrey Won't Give Up Home

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey has told his neighbors he'll still play basketball with the kids and doesn't want to move away from Coquelin Terrace now that he's been elected vice president.

Grimacing, hoisting a youngster aloft, shaking hands, he came home to a warm, sign-waving welcome Thursday night after two days of victory celebrations with President Johnson in Texas.

"For he's a jolly good fellow," the kids sang a little weakly, as the Humphreys drove up in a big, shiny black limousine. Beforehand, police, acting on Secret Service orders, had herded the crowd of about 100 friendly neighbors — kids, grownups and even the dogs — behind a rope and told reporters and cameramen to stand across the street from the Humphrey house.

But Humphrey quickly restored the informality of his suburban Chevy Chase, Md., block, stepping out to acknowledge the greetings of longtime friends and telling the kids with hand-lettered placards, "Golly, those are good-looking signs."

"Roses are red, violets are blue, don't move away cause we all love you," said a big sign held by 12-year-old Lynda Scates, who heard that people were suggesting the new vice president needed more sumptuous housing.

Humphrey looked at his modest four-bedroom green and white house and said, "We love this home very much, we love the neighbors. We've been as comfortable, secure and happy here as we could be any place."

Then, with a fond smile, he admitted it was "patched and fixed up a bit — but we love it."

Besides, he said nostalgically, "I've lived here longer than in any house in my life — 16 years this December."

Telephone men have been installing three White House telephones — in the den, family room and master bedroom.

Outside, Secret Service men took up vigil over the neighborhood.

But, everybody seemed to love the excitement.

And they found the Humphreys were still the same Humphreys.

"We've lost a basketball player, but gained a vice president," said a sign held by Steven McGovern, 12, son of next-door neighbor, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D.

"Not on your life," was Humphrey's assurance to his young player friend. He said he'd be back on their driveway court.

Chemicals Will Kill Nutgrass

Nutgrass can now be controlled with chemicals.

Dr. E. C. Holt of the Department of Soil and Crop Sciences, Texas A&M University, reports that nutgrass growing in Bermuda sod can be controlled by herbicides containing organic arsenic compounds.

This late research has found nutgrass shoots sensitive to arsenic herbicides, and Bermuda grass is tolerant. Thus, selective control of nutgrass is possible with many of the methylarsenate formulations, a primary one being disodium methylarsenate.

A 60-100 percent concentrate solution should be used. Three to five ounces of the formulation in two to four gallons of water per 1,000 square feet are usually sufficient.

Several applications of the herbicide may be necessary because of numerous shoot buds on each underground tuber and numerous dormant tubers which become activated when other tubers in the same system are killed. Lateral translocation of the arsenic in the tuber system does not kill dormant tubers.

These compounds also serve as an effective control of crabgrass and Dallisgrass, according to Calvin J. Caldwell, county agent, who warns not to use this material on St. Augustine grass.

Johnson May Get Urban Home Bill

By J.W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again it looks as though Congress might do something for President Johnson that it didn't do for President John F. Kennedy.

The word at the Capitol today was that Johnson, if he asks for it, can get congressional approval of a new Cabinet department to handle urban affairs and housing.

Congress had refused to go along with Kennedy's plan for the department. Similarly, it didn't pass the civil rights law he asked, nor a Social Security link for medical care for the aged.

But Johnson got the civil rights bill through this year, and is all set to push in the new Congress for medical care. He may not have to work nearly so hard to get the new Cabinet department for urban affairs.

President Kennedy twice tried to get Congress to let him wrap up city affairs and housing in one department. First, a proposed law got blocked in a House committee. Then, when he sent his plan to Congress in the form of a government reorganization, the House vetoed it.

However, a good many of those who voted against Kennedy's plan were defeated for reelection Tuesday. The Democratic majority in the House was increased by approximately 40 seats, a formidable bloc.

One of the reasons Kennedy lost was that he announced beforehand that if Congress approved the new department, he would pick a Negro to head it. This displeased many Southerners and set off Republican protests that Kennedy was injecting the racial issue.

The Negro then in line for the job was Robert C. Weaver, federal housing and home finance administrator. Whether Johnson would appoint him remains to be seen.

Weaver has called for creation of the new department as "symbolic recognition of the right of the 73 per cent of the people of the nation living in urban areas to be represented at the Cabinet level."

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential campaigns are nearly twice as long as they should be, says Vice-President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey.

Humphrey said he believes that in the campaign just ended the people were ready to vote "at least two weeks before it was over."

He contended, in a taped interview televised Sunday by NBC, the traditional 10-week-plus campaign involves much replaying of old material and is a holdover from days of slower communications and transportation.

Humphrey said that perhaps with "a little bipartisan soul-searching" an understanding might be worked out to hold nominating conventions in September then have campaigns of about six weeks.

The interview was taped before he left for a vacation in the Virgin Islands.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach predicts solution to the murder of three civil rights workers in Mississippi because

Real Estate Boards threw its weight against Kennedy's idea on the grounds that it was "a grand design to elevate housing to the Cabinet level." It said the problems of urban areas extended all through American life and the government could not effectively concentrate those problems in one department.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has taken the position that the proposed department would lead to big federal subsidies that would discourage communities from taking care of themselves.

There has been agitation for the new department for a dozen years. There have been bills in Congress calling for it every year since 1956. Backers say the problems of cities and their populations are now so gigantic they require handling by a top-level agency.

The latest Cabinet department to be created was the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. President Dwight D. Eisenhower set it up in 1953 with a reorganization plan.

Either the House or Senate can kill such a plan by voting against it within 60 days. If neither does, the plan goes into effect.

James Marlow is on vacation.

"I believe that eventually we will get some evidence and some people will talk."

Katzenbach, interviewed Sunday on a Radio Press International program, agreed the government may have "information that would point toward some individual." But he said it "may not be quite what is required to present a case and secure an indictment."

The government has examined voting records in 67 or 68 counties in Mississippi, Katzenbach said, "and I could predict on the basis of those records that it's going to be likely there are going to be more voting suits."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional subcommittee has invited the government to come up with useful projects to put to work the $3 billion in U.S.-owned foreign currencies now idle.

The House Foreign Operations subcommittee said, for example, that the State Department shouldn't be too timid to ask for $3,000 a year to operate a fountain at the embassy in New Delhi — if the money is in otherwise unused rupees. The expensive fountain now is dry for lack of funds.

The subcommittee said in a report Sunday the government's stocks of local currencies received in return for some kinds of foreign aid is growing at a rate of $200 million a year. The funds can't be changed into dollars. Some, by agreement, must be used only for further foreign aid.

The report suggested unrestricted funds might be used for such things as schools for U.S. dependents overseas, language instruction, more travel, repairs, or publishing low-cost books in English.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Guests at the Soviet Embassy's annual celebration of the Bolshevik revolution looked for Nikita Khrushchev's portrait on its accustomed wall. They saw instead a water color of a snowy mountain.

While Khrushchev's pictures were gone there was a surprise guest at the party, a sixth grader from St. Francis of Assisi School in Germantown, Pa.

Jeanne O'Callaghan, 11, had written the embassy for information to use in a school assignment. She received a suggestion that she come for it in person — and invitations to the celebration for herself and her mother.

Chou and the Soviet leaders are assumed to be bargaining over Chinese terms for an indefinite suspension of the verbal hostilities between Peking and Moscow. The Red Chinese have indicated in recent statements that they expect the Kremlin to renounce most of Khrushchev's policies since 1956 — including destalinization and peaceful coexistence with the West.

Brezhnev reaffirmed Soviet adherence to Khrushchev's co-existence policy during a meeting last Friday night. Chou did not join in the applause.

New Call for Moscow and China Unity

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP) — A new call came from the Kremlin today for a world Communist conference on the Moscow-Peking rift, but there was no indication Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's talks with the new Soviet leaders have brought the two camps closer together.

A Moscow dispatch to L'Unita, the Italian Communist newspaper, said Chou and his Peking delegation, which came to Moscow for last week's celebration of the 47th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, apparently were extending their visit for further talks.

An editorial today in Pravda, the Soviet party paper, said a world Communist conference "is clearly overdue."

Red China had vigorously opposed such a conference when former Premier Nikita Khrushchev called it to muster support against the Chinese. The Kremlin's new leaders, party secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, are expected to put the emphasis on such a meeting on unity and not schism.

Brezhnev raised a toast to Communist unity Monday at a farewell dinner for foreign delegations leaving after the week-end celebrations. There was no word whether Chou responded.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said Brezhnev proposed his toast "to the unity of the fraternal community of Socialist states and Communists of all the world to the unity all the forces of freedom and progress on the earth, to the victories of the cause of socialism, of great Marxist-Leninist ideas."

Tass said a "warm and friendly atmosphere" prevailed at the dinner.

Possible Storm Is Breaking Up

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A tropical depression, watched the past two days for possible storm development, was breaking up along the Yucatan coast 500 miles southwest of Miami today.

The Weather Bureau said the disturbance was weak and disorganized, consisting mostly of showers with occasional winds up to 25 miles an hour.

Old Meshes With New of Today

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) - Hubert H. Humphrey bounded down the steps of his campaign plane in Southern Illinois not many weeks ago and received a welcoming serenade of that old Democratic battle song, "Happy Days Are Here Again."

He'd heard it countless times. But on this day it was played with a rock 'n' roll beat.

It was jarringly symbolic of how the old meshes with the new in today's campaigning.

The horse-and-buggy politicking of torchlight rallies and street-corner harangues - are now played out to a faster, more exulting rhythm set by jet planes and modern communications.

Despite the swifter pace the presidential campaigns appear to grow no shorter. Some argue they are longer than ever.

If one consensus has emerged from this political season it is that presidential campaigns are too long. Too long for the candidates, too long for the people.

On Election Day, Sen. Barry Goldwater looked back on months of speeches and thousands of miles of travel and decided that U.S. election campaigns are so long they are silly. As for the candidate's lot of having to utter the same speeches day after day, he said, "That can drive you nuts."

There is usually grumbling of one sort or another from the loser. This time there was some grumbling from the winning side.

Goldwater, started out with the joy of a porpoise taking to the sea. But a couple of weeks before the end he was admitting that the journey was too long.

"I'm coming up with gravel and sand," he remarked in an allusion to the days of his youth in South Dakota when the well pump was primed but came up dry.

If the candidates are tired, the public may well be both tired and bored with the whole thing.

Humphrey, a former teacher as well as a practicing politician, knows an audience's attention span is limited. Like Goldwater, he felt the candidates might be losing their audience.

What to do about it? How long should the campaign last?

"They ought to be like the British elections. If you can't get your point across in four weeks you ought to give it up," said Goldwater.

Humphrey, the vice president-elect, suggested in an NBC interview taped before flying off for a rest in the Virgin Islands that perhaps both parties could reach an understanding "that it might be well if we had our political conventions in September rather than in July and August."

That way, said Humphrey, there could be two weeks of preparation and then a 6-week, rather than a 10-week, campaign.

Rep. John S. Monagan thinks there should be a law against long campaigns. He is going to try to get one passed.

The Connecticut Democrat has announced he will introduce a bill when Congress reconvenes in January to limit presidential campaigns to just 60 days.

Calling the campaigns "electoral circuses," Monagan contends they are wasteful in money and time and exhaust the nervous and physical resources of the candidates.

Above all, however, Monagan believes they may be self-defeating.

"After the first informative period," he said, "they bore the elector and thus fail to serve a purpose."

Halleck and Dirksen Avoid the Squabble

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) - Although they are interested in the outcome, it won't make much practical difference to Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana whether Dean Burch is forced out as Republican national chairman.

Because Burch was one of those who engineered the campaign in which Sen. Barry Goldwater was solidly defeated in his bid for the presidency, some Republicans are hunting for the chairman's scalp.

The Senate and House Republican leaders have avoided getting involved in this controversy. They know that the record the party carries into the 1968 elections will be forged in Congress and not by the national committee.

There have been some cries for new and younger faces in the leadership roles. But Dirksen and Halleck appear to have fortified their power base and seem unlikely to be presented with any serious challenge from within the ranks of their followers.

The national chairman is invited to sit in with them and other members of Congress in weekly meetings during the session.

Goldwater, who picked Burch and wants him retained as national chairman, has made it clear he recognizes that the party's record is made in Congress.

"This is the historical place where the real political power rests," he told a post-election news conference in Phoenix, Ariz.

The defeated presidential candidate said he plans to "work hand and glove" with Dirksen and Halleck. But Goldwater is leaving the Senate in January and may not always be around when the GOP leaders decide to file off a policy statement.

The Republican governors also are talking about contributing to the party dialogue in an effort to influence its future course. But while they probably could influence the national committee members of their states in voting, there are members from 33 other states who have no GOP governor to guide them.

Dirksen and Halleck can't always get a majority of their Republican bloc to go along with them. But when the chips are down the two leaders usually can come through with the nearly solid support of their members.

LONDON (AP) - British aviation authorities say Red China is looking into the purchase of long-range British jet planes, presumably to stretch its air service to Africa and even to Cuba.

Vickers-Armstrong Ltd. said talks have been going on intermittently with the Chinese for some time. Vickers-Armstrong's four-jet VC10 will carry 150 passengers more than 4,000 miles.

A spokesman for Hawker-Siddeley, makers of the Comet, said it has been talking with the Chinese for about 18 months. The four-jet Comet has a 3,200-mile range.

TOKYO (AP) - Hanoi radio said today that the chief of the Laotian Communists, Prince Souphanouvong, has sent an urgent message to Premier Souvanna Phouma calling on him to halt what he called "frantic armed attacks" against areas controlled by Souphanouvong's Pathet Lao forces.

The Red prince charged that a "large-scale attack" by "the United States and its henchmen is rendering the Laotian situation extremely dangerous."

The message charged that 3 to 12 planes made daily bombing, strafing and rocket attacks on more than 20 places in the Pathet Lao area of northeast Laos from Oct. 14-27, "causing quite serious losses in lives and property."

Texas Board OKs Books on Evolution

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The state Board of Education has voted 14-6 to adopt five text books which became the center of a controversy over the teaching of evolution.

The board's action Monday was in effect a rejection of charges that the books present evolution in an atheistic manner.

Three of the books were developed at a cost of $5 million by the National Science Foundation. They were "High School Biology," Rand McNally Co.; "Biological Science: An Inquiry Into Life," Harcourt, Brace and World; and "Biological Science: Molecules to Man," Houghton Mifflin Co.

The other two were "Biological Science for High School," Ginn and Co.; and "Modern Biology," Holt, Rinehart and Winston.

The storm over the books began in July when Church of Christ evangelist Reuel Lemmons of Austin editorialized against the books in his religious newspaper, sparking statewide petition campaigns against adoption of the books.

Lemmons and a number of Point's "lonesome end," Capt. William S. Carpenter Jr., has been decorated again for meritorious service in South Viet Nam's guerrilla war.

The bronze star was presented to Carpenter Monday for "courage, competence and devotion to duty" while serving as an adviser to a Vietnamese battalion from July 1963 to June 1964.

Carpenter, twice wounded in action against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas, won the silver star for heroism when his unit fought its way out of a Red trap on Dec. 28, 1963.

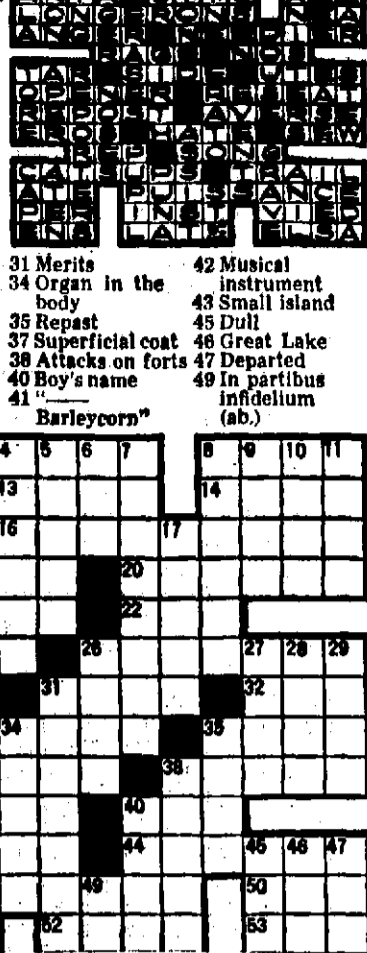

The captain earned his nickname as a West Point football player, when he

Who Steals My Name . . .

By Clay Richards Copyright © 1964 by Clay Richards. Published by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The Story: Bleke Morgan is checking out suspects in a case involving a post office robbery and murder of a clerk. He is interviewing the parents of Richard Emery, one of the suspects who answers a description of the robber.

III

"Look, Mrs. Emery," I said, "I'm going to be honest with you. I don't know that your son has done anything. I do think that he may be able to give us some important information. He may be involved and he may not. I also talked to Mr. Nolan, his parole officer, and I know that he didn't show up this morning and that he hasn't been to work for several days."

She sagged a little more into the chair. "Richard left a week ago tonight. I don't know when, but he was gone in the morning. Mr. Emery and I have no idea where he went."

I cleared my throat, trying to think of what to say next.

"I don't know what happened, she said. She sounded as if she were talking to herself. "We had four lovely children. We never had a bit of trouble with them—except for Richard. Maybe it was because he wasn't well when he was a small child."

"Mrs. Emery," I said, "was Richard in the habit of bringing companions home?"

"Not for several years. Oh, there was one young man who came home with him a few weeks ago, but they didn't stay long. He didn't seem the right sort. I'm sure you understand, Mr. Morgan."

I nodded. "Do you know anything about the young man? His name, or anything? He might know where your son has gone."

"He was just a rather crude young man. I believe that Richard said his name was Joseph but I don't know his last name. Richard was not brought up to introduce a person by his first name only."

"Did Richard take anything with him when he left?"

"One suitcase with some of his clothes. Do you suppose he merely went to visit some friend? If he were really leaving he would take all his things, wouldn't he?"

"Perhaps," I said. "Mrs. Emery, I'd like to look at your son's room."

She hesitated only a moment. "Very well, if it'll help us find him. I'll have Anita show it to you." She reached up and pulled the old-fashioned bell cord. The maid was there quickly.

"Mr. Morgan would like to see Richard's room. You may show it to him, Anita." She looked at me.

"Thank you, Mrs. Emery." I followed the maid out of the room and up to the third floor. She opened a door.

"This is it," she said.

She gave me a smile and left. I went into the room and closed the door. It was a large bed room with an air of neatness. I was sure it didn't have when Richard Emery was there. A table beside a big armchair was stacked high with magazines. They were mostly true crime and adventure magazines. There was one exception, a copy of Holiday. There was a stamped price on the cover, showing that it had been bought in a back-issue store. I crossed the room to a clothes closet and opened the door. There were several suits and sport jackets hanging there. I looked through the pockets of the jackets. They were empty except for one suit. I found two things in it.

One was a piece of paper with one line scrawled on it: "Joe will be at the Red Vest tonight at 10." I remembered that Mrs. Emery had mentioned her son bringing home someone named Joseph. The Red Vest sounded as if it might be a bar or restaurant.

The other find was an empty .38 cartridge. The postal clerk had been killed by a .38. I added it to my pocket. Next I tried the dresser. There was plenty of evidence that someone had packed in a hurry, but he'd still left behind more shirts than most men own.

A small desk stood over against one wall. I went over and sat on the chair in front of it. A calendar pad was on the desk. The top page bore the date of a week before. Somebody had doodled all over the page. There were several faces, the number 100,000 appeared five or six times and down at the bottom a file of dollar signs marched across the page. I rifled through the rest of the pages and found nothing. I then went through the drawers, but there were only blank sheets of paper and several pencils.

On an impulse I went back and picked up the copy of Holiday. It was a special issue on Brazil. I opened it to the feature article and glanced at it. A section of the article was lightly marked with a pencil. It had to do with the colony of American embezzlers living in Brazil, safe because there was no extradition.

Has No Money to Fix Auto

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — James Barton says he is selling his car because he does not have $30 to fix it.

He has a $1,000 bill, but the sheriff's office will not let him break it.

Barton, 20, who does odd jobs, found the bill on a Rockford street Friday night.

"It was just lying there big as life," he reported. "I felt better after I turned it in."

Sheriff's officers told Barton he would have to advertise three weeks, wait a year, and the bill would be his—if nobody claimed it.

"It'll come in handy in my old age," said Barton sadly.

Crossett to Sue to Collect Tax

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP)—Crossett City Atty. William S. Arnold has written Public Utilities Corporation that he may start legal proceedings to collect an $18,000 occupation tax levied by the city.

Arnold also released a letter from Vernon J. Giss, a vice president of Stephens, Inc. of Little Rock, which owns the Crossett utility firm, saying the tax was too high and should be reduced.

Giss said his firm would be happy to negotiate a reasonable level of taxes "after our right to do business has been voted by the people."

On Nov. 3 residents here voted down an ordinance calling for an election to determine whether to buy one or more of the four utilities operated by the corporation.

R. D. Tucker, president of the firm, wrote customers recently that "we have decided that if the $18,000 privilege tax is not modified to a reasonable level, we must contest it in the courts rather than add this $7 a year per customer city tax to our customer's utility bills."

Gwendolyn Doris Smith of Hope, Ark., has been chosen to represent the Junior class in the 1964 Bishop College Homecoming Queen Contest. There will be a Coronation in the gymnasium at 8:00 Friday night, Nov. 20, where the winner will be announced.

Miss Smith will appear in the Bishop Homecoming Parade at 11 a.m. She is a 1962 graduate of Yenger High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Jr. She is a Junior Sociology Major and a member of the Roger Williams Fellowship, Sonami Club and many other organizations. ### Peanut Acreage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman set the national acreage allotment for the 1965 peanut crop Monday, and it included 4,204 acres for Arkansas.

Both the Arkansas figure and the national allotment, 1,610,000 acres, are substantially the same as this year. Freeman also set the marketing quota for 1965 at 1,187,375 tons, based on a normal yield of 1,475 pounds per acre.

Drought Has Caused Many Crop Losses

CHICAGO (AP) — An autumn drought described in some areas as the worst in history has turned hundreds of communities into emergency areas, threatened the nation's farmers with a multimillion-dollar loss in winter wheat and made forestlands fire traps.

An Associated Press survey today showed that hundreds of counties have become eligible for federal aid as wells, streams and springs have dried up and water has been pumped to farms.

The drought has taken no major proportions in New England, which the U.S. Weather Bureau said was the worst in the area's history. The bureau said the drought has extended for more than six months in four New England states.

Farmers scanned the skies grimly in the Midwest and Southwest as one of the worst moisture shortages in the 20th century began taking its toll on the winter wheat crop.

In California, the drought situation was eased by a torrential rainstorm.

One of the hardest-hit states is Colorado, where the state's entire $100-million winter-wheat crop is near total destruction because of lack of rain. The situation also was described as critical in parts of Wyoming and western Kansas.

The New England drought plagued an area from Pittsfield, Mass., to Hartford, Conn., and from Haverhill, Mass., to Concord, N.H.

The Massachusetts Department of Water reported a 30 per cent water shortage in October and described the situation as a statewide emergency.

Thousands of dairy farms are short of water in Vermont and New Hampshire.

In Pennsylvania, the Crop Reporting Service said the winter wheat crop has a poor start in a state which has an $800-million agricultural industry.

Twenty-five eastern Pennsylvania counties are eligible for federal emergency feed grains and other counties are applying.

An official said that unless heavy rains come before the ground freezes, farmers will be faced with a water shortage all winter. Fifteen communities are now on emergency water supplies and some farmers are hauling water for livestock.

Last month was the driest October this century in Illinois. Wisconsin is experiencing its second driest autumn since records were begun in 1892.

Twenty-six of Minnesota's 87 counties have been designated disaster areas and 26 of South Dakota's 64 counties have designated drought areas.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has declared 14 of Michigan's 83 counties emergency feed areas. More than 3,250 livestock producers have been threatened with liquidation of their estimated 38,480 head of livestock.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A pair of late starters joined the season's new television programs Monday night, NBC's Jonathan Winters in his first special and ABC's Les Crane, who hopes to compete with Johnny Carson for the late evening viewers.

Winters, who has an imaginative, way-out style all his own, opened the hour smashing. He introduced a number of characters as De Gaulle, Khrushchev, even Cary Grant as he stood with a puppy in his arms. Then he brought on a dear old lady carrying an apple pie, followed by two cute kids, one carrying a flag.

"That's it, folks," he confided, beaming benevolently. "Something for everybody. We're going for the ratings tonight, folks."

This was followed by a bright satire on all those prairie schooner movies and television shows, with Winters playing the wagon master and being his outrageous best.

Subsequent bits did not move quite as happily. Winters is a most unusual inventive fellow and to many of us is wildly funny, but I suspect he is not everybody's dish.

ABC's favorite adjective in describing Les Crane and his new nightly conversation show is "explosive." It appeared,

DeGaulle to Be Target for Talks

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of President Johnson's first post-election moves in foreign policy may be to send a high-level representative — perhaps Hubert H. Humphrey — to Europe to talk with French President Charles de Gaulle and other Allied leaders about the split in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

There is administration quarters there is persistent speculation that Johnson may ask Vice President-elect Humphrey to undertake the assignment, perhaps in company with Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, the State Department's top expert on Allied problems.

There is also talk that Johnson may ask Ball alone to carry out such a mission.

Speculation that Johnson will send an emissary to Europe increases as it becomes more and more unlikely that the President himself will go there this year. During the campaign he spread the word that he might find some occasion to address a NATO meeting in November or December. He was represented as being deeply concerned about splintering Allied unity in Europe.

Actually the post-election period will bring talks in Washington of considerable importance to the alliance. Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak is due here next week for consultations with Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Spaak, a former secretary-general of NATO, has been one of the European leaders most actively interested in trying to find solutions for NATO's divisive problems and for the severe economic disagreement between France and West Germany within the European Common Market.

In about a month, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson plans to come here for talks with Johnson. He is anxious to find some formula for shifting Britain's nuclear weapons force to NATO and he would like to modify the U. S. plan for a NATO nuclear navy toward which the British have been cool for several years.

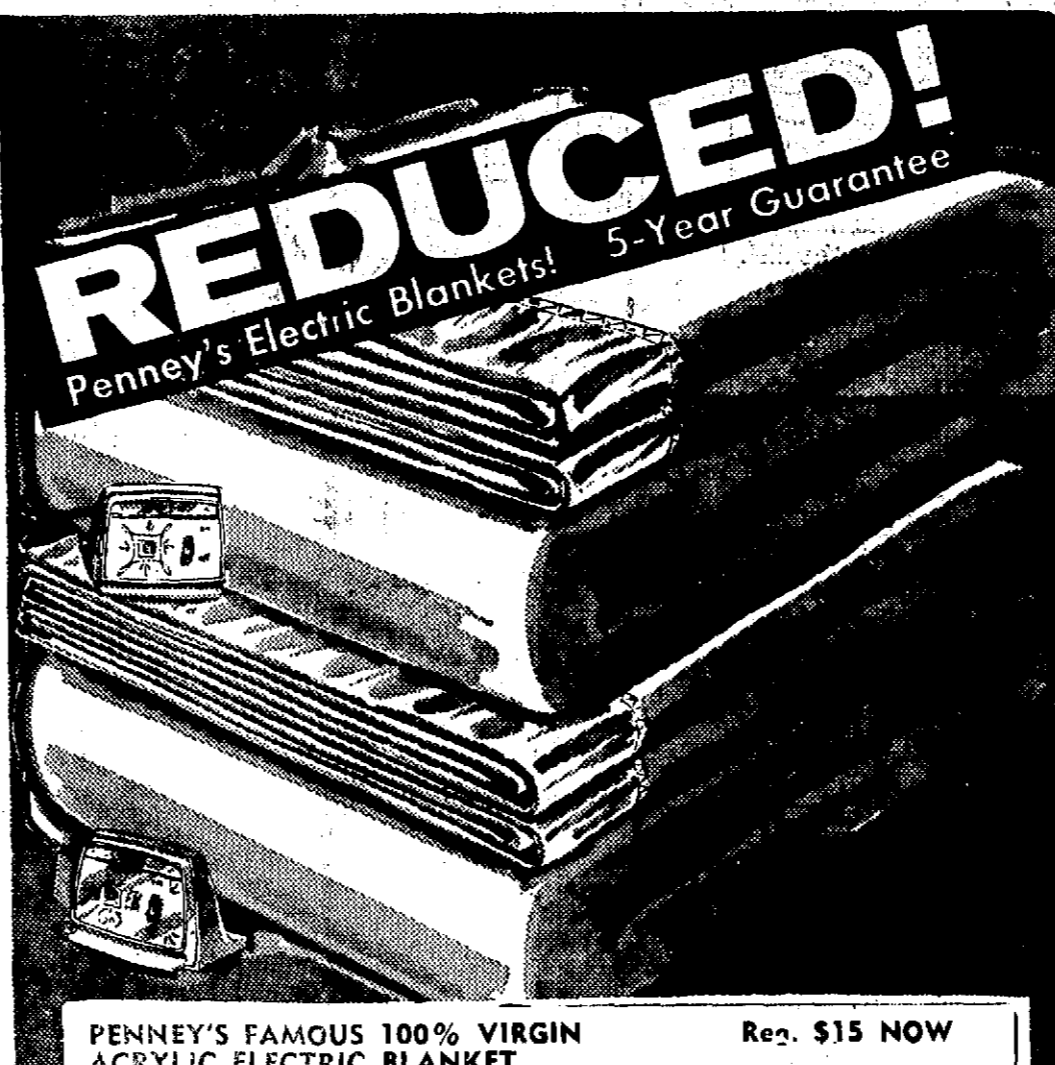

The key personality in the discussion which could tear NATO apart is De Gaulle.

He is threatening to drop out of the Common Market unless West Germany comes to terms quickly on a European grain price plan. He has also implied that so far as France is concerned U.S. success in carrying through the plan for a NATO nuclear navy would split NATO wide open — the implication being that France would virtually withdraw from the alliance.

William R. King, elected vice president of the U.S. in 1852, never assumed his duties because of ill health.
